WASHINGTON CITY.

Public Reports.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Secretary [illegible] a circular instructing inspectors of [illegible] and coast steamers to see that every requirement of equipment is provided and the rules [illegible] of the board of supervising inspectors [illegible].

Secretary Kirkwood's supplementary report treats of railroads and says during the last fiscal year [illegible] 6000 miles of subsidized and land grant railroads subject to supervision of the bureau have been examined and their [illegible], especially those of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific roads carefully compared with the reports rendered by these companies. He says although the past severe and protracted winter was accompanied by unusual floods and storms which destroyed much property and materially increased expenditures for maintaining the same, it was [illegible] that substantial improvement in the property of roads in which the government had a direct interest, had been made, and general reports rendered indicate a marked increase in their business. The gross and net earnings of the Pacific roads for the year ending June 30th, 1881, are: Union Pacific, gross earnings, $22,765,732; operating expenses, $11,474,910, net, $11,290,822. Total number of miles operated, 1819. Central Pacific—gross earnings, $22,893,344; operating expenses and rentals, $13,502,601, net earnings, $9,390,810; average number of miles operated, 2164. Northern Pacific—gross earnings, $2,931,802; operating expenses, $1,975,157; net earnings, $955,695; number of miles operated, 754. The last annual report of operations of the Texas Pacific road has not been received at the department. Secretary Kirkwood reports, however, that work on the road is being pushed rapidly forward, and it is anticipated that the line will be completed and running to El Paso the first day of January next. The secretary suggests that the Thurman act of May 7, 1878, should be so arranged as to embrace the subsidized portion of the Kansas division of the Union Pacific railroad.

Banks in Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A private dispatch states that the Pacific National bank has closed its doors. The Central National Boston, was in trouble, but overcame its embarrassment, and continues business.

Order Revoked.

The postoffice department revokes the order for redemption of postal cards spoiled in the hands of private parties.

The Malheur Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—The commissioner of Indian affairs in his annual report calls attention to the desirability of action by congress to provide for an appraisement and sale of the Malheur reservation, comprising 1778 acres, in Oregon. He says the reservation is no longer needed for Indian purposes, and by direction of the president the agency has been finally abandoned and a considerable portion of the public property and supplies appertaining thereto has been removed. The remainder will be disposed of in such manner and at such time as may seem to be most advantageous. A memorial from the legislative assembly of the state of Oregon praying for a restoration of the lands included in this reserve to the public domain for pre-emption settlement and sale, was referred to this office in February last by the chairman of the senate committee on Indian affairs. The proposition to dispose of the land in the manner therein indicated did not receive the approval of this office and it may be well to add that any plan looking to the disposal of the reservation that does not contemplate and provide substantial return to the Indians for whose sole benefit it was established and set apart should not receive the sanction of the department. These Indians will need assistance in the future in their efforts at self support and the proceeds of the sale of their reservation will be properly invested to afford such assistance and relieve the government of the burden. The Indians who formerly occupied it are either at the Yakima agency, Washington territory, or in the vicinity of camps McDermitt and Bidwell, and the town of Winnemucca, Nevada, where they meagerly support themselves by labor among the whites or cultivation of the soil.

Other Reservations.

Commissioner Price also recommends the passage of a law to authorize the sale of that portion of the Umatilla reservation which is occupied by the town of Pendleton, and urges that provision be made for accurately surveying and determining the true boundaries of Indian reservations, especially the Klamath reservation in Oregon and San Carlos division of the White Mountain reservation in Arizona, disputes in regard to which involve valuable property and threaten to give rise to serious difficulties between whites and Indians. He says in regard to the last named, extensive and valuable coal deposits have been discovered along its southern line, and that these deposits are within the limits of the reserve. There is but little doubt that the boundary lines have never been marked on the ground or otherwise by official survey, consequently the miners and prospectors are flocking into the neighborhood from all directions to dispute all jurisdiction of the agent, who, by astronomical observations, approximated and determined the location of the boundary, and declared the discoveries to be within their reservation.

Brown will Resign.

J. Stanley Brown, private secretary of the late president, Garfield, and acting in the same capacity for President Arthur, resigns the 1st of December, or as soon thereafter as suits the president's convenience. At his desire Brown to remain during the remainder of the administration, but at the request of Mrs. Garfield Brown has undertaken to prepare for a biographer the papers, letters and literary remains of the late president. He finds it necessary to give this work much time. Brown has also accepted partnership in the firm of Bateman & Co., bankers and brokers of this city. The firm will henceforth be known as Bateman, Brown & Co.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Another Shipwreck.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A telegram from Acapulco reports British bark Lara, from Hull, via Rio Janeiro, for San Francisco, was abandoned on the 23d, the cargo being on fire. Part of the crew landed at Acapulco. Nothing was known of the remainder of the crew.

Frigidly Received.

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—The deputies at the opening of the reichstag listened with icy coldness to the king's speech, not one sentence of which was applauded.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Chilian Chambers.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 18.—There was rejoicing in Chili on account of the ratification of the boundary treaty between Chili and the Argentine Republic. The Chilian chambers passed the treaty by a vote of 44 to 12.

Intelligence office keepers in New York play a new game. A lady engages a girl at the office who appears entirely satisfactory. But she is only a decoy, and she never goes to the lady's house, others being sent, who pretend to know all about the first one, and declare that she has no intention of coming to work.

Nast has invested $40,000 in a silver mine. Receiving unfavorable reports, he went out to see what he had paid for. Accompanied by an expert, he found that he had invested in an open quarry which wouldn't pan out 5 cents to the ton. A full-page engraving of Nast looking down the hole for his $40,000 would make a striking picture.

Garfield, Conkling and the Treasury Department.

[Cincinnati Commercial.]

No one estimated more highly than Garfield did the importance of the treasury department, and he was unwilling that any man's representative should have it; and right there he gave the offence to Conkling that resulted in hostilities. The truth is, Garfield was only too anxious to conciliate Conkling, and could not gratify him in the matter of the treasury department, because he had with respect to it a deep sense of his responsibility to the American people. We ourselves urged him to give the appointment of Morton the most favorable consideration consistent with his sense of duty, but his overruling reason was that he thought Morton ineligible under the Hamilton law on account of his business connections and that he had not the self-assertion he deemed essential in a New Yorker in the treasury. He offered Morton the secretaryship of the navy, as will be remembered, and Morton accepted it, but illustrated his sensibility afterward by declining, because his acceptance was an embarrassment to his friend Conkling.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of hop bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again, and I am glad I did, for in less than two months' use of the bitters my wife was cured, and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St Paul.—Pioneer Press.

Slaven's Cherry Tooth Paste.

An aromatic combination for the preservation of the Teeth and Gums. It is far superior to any preparation of its kind in the market. In large, handsome opal pots, price 50 cents. For sale by Woodard, Clarke & Co., Portland, Oregon.

THE GUITEAU TRIAL.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.

[illegible] before the hour of opening the criminal court several hundred ladies and gentlemen assembled in the eastern corridors and patiently awaited admission to the court room. At 9 o'clock the prison van drove up and Guiteau, clutching a large bundle of papers in his manacled hands, shuffled hurriedly into the building. There was a marked absence of noisy demonstrations on the part of bystanders, yet Guiteau plainly betrayed fear of sudden violence which always marks his movements whenever he deems himself at all exposed to danger. He was taken to the prisoner's room and devoted himself to reading papers. At 9:30 the seats reserved for the general public were entirely filled, four fifths of them being occupied by ladies.

Upon opening the court, Scoville requested the court to take some measures to prevent the prisoner from giving to the public his unauthorized communications, and also to prevent the annoying interruption of the prisoner in the court room. This brought on a scene, during which Guiteau demanded that Scoville should go out of the case, that he was no criminal lawyer and had no sense; that he talked one thing to him in private and another in public. Scoville endeavored to explain to the court, but Guiteau became more and more excited and addressed himself alternately to the court, to Scoville and the bailiffs, who were endeavoring to keep him quiet. To the court he said: "I represent myself, your honor, and I shall do as I please about counsel." Then turning to Scoville, "you have no capability, and I won't have you manage my case." Then turning to the bailiffs he shouted, "you mind your business, you confounded fools, you ain't got no sense."

The court again stated to the prisoner in decided terms that he would order his removal and proceed in his absence.

Then Guiteau shouted excitedly: "I don't care. If you do it the court above this will reverse you and I will get a trial. You have got no right to remove me."

The court replied, in terms which seemed to convince Guiteau of their sincerity: "Very well, I shall do so if you persist in any more disturbance; and there are precedents in this court for such rulings."

A whispered consultation between Guiteau and Scoville followed, and the former, apparently convinced, subsided into absolute quiet and devoted himself to his papers.

District Attorney Corkhill then offered in evidence certain letters which were yesterday read to Blaine and identified by him.

Ed. A. Wagler was called as a witness, but failed to respond.

Jos. K. Sharpe was sworn: Did not see the shooting, but saw the prisoner attempting to escape and witnessed the arrest.

Ella Medgley testified to hearing a conversation between Guiteau and the hackman, while the former was arranging to be drawn to the cemetery. She also witnessed the shooting and gave her testimony in a clear and straightforward manner. She was closely cross-questioned by Scoville, but adhered strictly in every particular to the evidence in chief. Being questioned as to Guiteau's manner when talking to the hackman, she said he was pale and appeared troubled. She thought he must be going out to see the graves of some dead friends. Witness described minutely the shooting, the relative positions of the parties at the time each shot was fired, and was positive the first shot took effect as the president threw up his hands and commenced to sink down. At the second shot Guiteau stepped two or three steps nearer, and held his arm higher. Witness proved to be the best examined upon the incidents of the shooting.

Joshua A. Davis, gate keeper of the Baltimore and Potomac depot was called. He merely caught a glimpse of the prisoner after he was arrested.

During the examination of those witnesses Guiteau was apparently absorbed in his papers. When allusion was made to his looking like a man about to visit the graves of dead friends, he glanced quickly at the witness and allowed a faint smile to linger for an instant about his gutta percha hued lips.

Edmund L. Dubarry witnessed the shooting and described the scenes connected therewith. He said in his opinion Guiteau had a bad face.

Scoville desired this portion of the evidence to be stricken out unless witness would state in what particular feature the prisoner had a bad face.

Witness insisted that it was his impression from the prisoner's general appearance.

Scoville then quite sharply said, "I don't want any opinions from you; have you ever expressed opinion on this case?"

Witness—"I have sir, frequently."

Scoville—"Have you ever said you thought the prisoner ought to be hung?"

Witness—(in a most emphatic manner)—"I have, most decidedly."

Patrick Kearny, policeman, first saw the prisoner at 8:45 A. M., July 2d; he was talking with two hackmen who were "bucking" a job from him, as we call it. Witness described minutely the arrival of the president's carriage and entrance into the depot. His evidence in this particular exactly corroborated that of Secretary Blaine. Soon after the president passed into the depot he heard shots, and rushing in seized a man who was running out. The man said, "I want General Sherman to have these papers." Witness said, "there were two shots fired and you are running from the direction of the shooting; I will arrest you." Some gentlemen said that is the man who shot the president. I had my club in my hand and thought of hitting him. Then I thought about the grand jury and did not hit him.

After a few questions had been asked witness by Scoville, Guiteau, who had been closely following the evidence, exclaimed, "Your honor, will you allow me to ask this witness a few questions? He comes nearer the truth than any of them."

A whispered consultation between Scoville and Guiteau ensued, when the former asked witness, "Were you at all excited when you made the arrest?"

Witness began to make a statement or repetition of his evidence, when Guiteau interrupted, saying, "You were the first one who took hold of me, Mr. officer. I had not moved. I had just put my pistol up."

A colloquy then ensued between Guiteau and the witness which created some amusement, but was not interrupted by court. Guiteau didn't try to run away.

Wm. F. Barker was called, but failed to appear.

Wm. S Crawford, a wagon driver, saw the firing; could not see the president, but distinctly saw Guiteau aim and fire and saw his arrest. He was questioned by Mr. Scoville at some length, particularly as to how Guiteau wore his hat on that occasion.

Guiteau put his hat on remarking, "They're all mistaken in that hat business. This is the way I wear my hat."

Witness—Well, perhaps that is the way he had it on, only not quite so far back.

John R. Scott, special officer on duty at the depot, was at the south gate when the first shot was fired. At the second shot he ran in the gate and across the hall and saw Parke holding a man. It was Guiteau. He (Guiteau) said: "I will go to jail, but I want Gen. Sherman to have this letter." He assisted in taking the prisoner to the police station. On the way Guiteau said: "I'm a stalwart, and Arthur is now president." Witness then detailed incidents attending the searching of the prisoner at the station and the finding of a pistol upon his person. District Attorney Corkhill then handed the pistol to the witness, who identified it as the one taken from the prisoner.

There was a noticeable stir in the court room and craning of necks in every part of the room with a whispered exclamation, "There's the weapon that killed poor Garfield."

The pistol was handed around and examined by the jury, their attention being called to the fact that two barrels were empty, and four still loaded.

Upon reassembling Guiteau addressed the court with, "your honor, Judge Magruder of Maryland, has offered to assist me in this trial, and I want to invite him to meet me here Monday morning. I dont know if Scoville knows about it, but I want him in the case. Scoville is doing splendidly, but I want him to have assistance. This is the only way I can get anything before the public, to announce it in court."

No objection was offered, and Guiteau, apparently satisfied, busied himself with writing, occasionally turning to Scoville to assure him Judge Magruder was a splendid man, and he wanted him in the case.

John Taylor and Aquilla Barton, colored hack drivers, testified relative to Guiteau's wishing to hire a hack to take him to the cemetery. Barton said the prisoner did not look at all excited or peculiar, but was perfectly cool and told him to keep cool and not get excited; he knew what he was looking for. Answering a question, witness replied: "I think he looks a little thinner than he did."

Guiteau, who appeared both interested and amused at the witness' replies, said: "Just here it might be well to say I have had the first square meal since the 2d of July." This sally raised a laugh in which Guiteau joined heartily.

Byron Andrews was called to the stand simply to identify himself as a correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. He has received no papers from the prisoner and did not know him.

While waiting for another witness, Scoville rose and said: "I give notice now the defense in this case is insanity and we will claim the burden of proof is on the prosecution. If they intend to introduce evidence on that point they must introduce it before they close."

Davidge—We think otherwise, and we will act according to our own convictions of what is proper. Defense has made no opening.

Scoville—I give you notice now before you close your proofs. I simply want to make it a matter of record.

Judge Cox—I understand.

S. A. Brown, chief clerk of state department, testified as to the frequent visits of the prisoner to the department, and to witness giving orders not to send any more of his cards to the secretary or attempt to see the secretary. Did not notice anything peculiar about him except he was a nervous individual and seemed to have a reluctant look in one eye.

Guiteau—I looked in your eye, Mr. Brown.

J. Stanley Brown, private secretary of President Garfield, testified to Guiteau's frequent calls at the white house, and of his (witness) telling Guiteau, "You must no longer trouble this office." He had told Guiteau himself and had reiterated it twice. His application being in the consular service he must go to the state department. Witness identified a number of letters from Guiteau to the president, which the district attorney proceeded to read. The first is a reminder to Gen. Garfield that he had sent them. Touching the Austrian mission he says: "Mr. Kasson of Iowa, I understand, wishes to remain at Vienna till fall. He is a good fellow. I should not wish to disturb him in any event. What do you think of me for consul general for Paris? I think I prefer Paris to Vienna, and if agreeable you should be satisfied."

Guiteau's Eccentricities.

Guiteau made the following statement during one of his paroxysms last night: "Scoville spent an hour in jail with me and showed a different spirit from now. That's why I don't propose to put any care in his hands. He is no lawyer and no politician. I want first class talent in this business and I am going to have it or there is going to be trouble." "Mind your business," he continued fiercely, struggling with the deputy marshals who were trying to suppress him.

Scoville—Yesterday prisoner told me he had another communication he intended to give the press.

"I don't care a snap about the going out," interrupted the prisoner excitedly. "I take this risk."

"Keep quiet," said Scoville angrily. "I told him in order to keep him from getting into the hands of reporters [illegible] would see him in jail about it. I went again and he kept it in his pocket."

"I gave it you myself," he said in confusion.

"I dont think," continued Scoville, "and I spent an hour suggesting different points to prevent it from getting out."

"Your honor, that's nonsense and you can't keep it out," exclaimed the prisoner.

"If you say you will not give it out," began Scoville, inquiringly.

"I represent myself here," said Guiteau.

GUITEAU'S LETTERS.

The work he once had in Purpose for God and a Theocratic Press.

A correspondent of the New York Herald has been permitted to look over several letters written by the assassin to his father, in Freeport, Ill., many years ago, and from among these papers was permitted to copy two. The first was written in April, 1865, shortly after Charles had left the Oneida community. It is written on foolscap paper and is full of bad spelling and punctuation. It is faithfully reproduced in the following copy:

HOBOKEN, N. J., No. 30 Washington St., April 10, 1865—DEAR FATHER—I have left the Community. The cause of my leaving was because I could not conscientiously and heartily accept their views on the labor question. They wanted to make a hard-working business man of me; but I could not consent to that, and therefore deemed it expedient to quietly withdraw, which I did last Monday. I am one however with them, in heart, in faith, and in doctrine, and always expect to be; but I was so certain I could serve their cause to a vastly better advantage disconnected from any local organization that I felt a good heart to try it at all events.

I came to New York in obedience to what I believed to be the call of God for the purpose of pursuing an independent course of theological and historical investigation. With the bible for my text-book and the Holy Ghost for my schoolmaster, I can pursue my studies without interference from human dictation. In the county [community] my time was appropriated but now it is at my own disposal; a very favorable change. I have procured a small room, well-furnished, in Hoboken, opposite the city, and intend to faithfully pursue my studies during the next two or three years.

And here it is proper to state that the energies of my life are now, and have been for months pledged to God, to do all that within me lies to extend the Sovereignty of Jesus Christ by placing at his disposal a powerful daily paper. I am persuaded that Theocratic Presses are destined, in due time to supercede to a great extent pulpit oratory. There are hundreds of Thousands of ministers in the world, but not a single daily Theocratic Press. It appears to me that there is a splendid chance for someone to do a big thing for God, for humanity, and for himself. At no time since the creation of the world have mankind been prepared for such an innovation. Everything will soon be auspicious for such a movement. Abolish Slavery, close the war, and establish such a Press at the center of national civilization, and then prophesy the rapid strides that this nation will take in Education. Conceive of several great Theocratic dailies in each of the principal cities of the world, all under the power and magnetism of God. What mighty 'Educators!' How they would control public opinion and extend the practical dominion of Christ on the earth. Religion, Science, Art, Politics, Literature, etc., would have ten, yea a hundred time, the chance to flourish within the spiritual medium created by these motors. Instead of persons spending an hour or two (as they now do) once in 7 days in religious thought, we should present them a Theocratic daily each morning at their breakfast-table, and thus introduce God into the practical affairs of life. The grand object of the paper would be to infuse into the public mind true ideas of God, of Christ, and of the spiritual world, and to establish a true standard of righteousness by inculcating the doctrine that the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom. It would entirely discard all muddy theology, brain philosophy and religious cant, and seek to turn the hearts of men toward the living God.

My paper would be an Illuminator. It would point out the devices of Satan's emissaries. It would let in the light of God's truth upon men's souls; the errors of the past would be exhibited, and the corrupting influences of Anti-Christ, which now everywhere hold men in bondage would be destroyed. There are errors in thought, in religion, in science and in the social life of the world, &c &c that need to be exposed and disposed of. For six thousand years the world has been a school of errors. They know not God nor Christ. Their religion is a sham—a mere cant—and their social life is worthy only of the darkest days of Judaism.

My paper would be a Reconciler. It would reconcile the conflicting interests of individuals, of classes, of churches, of states, of nations. Now, they are all independent. Each one has its own peculiar laws, customs, and institutions; but, thro' the influence of our Press they would be all merged into the interest of Jesus Christ, and gravitate towards their true place, and finally a true Christian nation.

Do you say that the establishment of a great daily paper is a stupendous work, and only to be accomplished by extraordinary talents and energy. Of course it is; and when I consider the vast work to be done, and my own insignificant attainments, my heart sinks within me; "but when I am weak," says Paul, "then I am strong;" so that my natural incapacity after all may be in my favor, inasmuch as it may enable God the more freely to pour out His grace upon me. However presumptuous it may seem, I am nevertheless constrained to confess the truth about myself. Therefore I say boldly, that I claim inspiration. I claim that I am in the employ of Jesus Christ & Co., the very ablest and strongest firm in the universe, and that what I can do is limited only by their power and purpose. I have very little confidence in the flesh; but a vast deal in the power and purpose of God; and I know that He will give me the requisite energy and ability to do my work well. The favor of God is vastly more important (in my view) in the pursuit of an object than anything else.

Whoever edits such a paper as I intend to establish will doubtless occupy the position of Target General for Press, Pulpit and Bench of the civilized world; and if God intends me for that place I fear not; for I know that He will be "a wall of fire round about me" and keep me from all harm.

To compete with the devil you must use the same agencies in propagating truth that he does in propagating error, and thereby supplant evil by good. I am, therefore, bold to confess that I should support the paper as other dailies are—i. e., by subscription, advertisements, and the free contribution of the friends of the cause. Perhaps the same munificence that has sustained the American Bible Society, erected magnificent churches, and kept tens of thousands of ministers in luxury would, if it could be controlled, sustain a national chain of Daily Theocratic Presses. A few months since millions of dollars were contributed for the benefit of sick and wounded soldiers. These generous acts clearly demonstrate that our people are mighty in good works, and need only to be convinced in order to pour out their money like water.

I now see very clearly why I was drawn into the Oneida Community nearly five years ago and run through a most crucifying experience. It all means preparation for the great work of my life. I know that I have received a vastly better education in the Oneida Community than I could have received at either West Point or Yale college.

In regard to a financial settlement the Community did well by me. They gave fifty dollars' worth of books, a hundred dollars' worth of new clothing, and one hundred dollars in money, and their notes for eight hundred dollars with interest, payable $100 Oct. 3, 1865; $350 April 3, 1866; $350 April 3, 1867; making the nine hundred dollars that I invested in the concern. My expenses this year will probably not exceed two hundred and twenty-five dollars. My principal expenses aside from room rent will be for food actually consumed, which will not be much as I live on dried beef, crackers, lemonade, etc., etc. To meet my yearly expenses, I shall have the interest on my money, which will amount to $50 or $60, together with my earnings from casual employment. Should there still be a deficiency, and there is no other way, I shall be compelled to draw upon the principal; but as I shall doubtless need all the money I can possibly control when I start the paper, I deem it expedient not to disturb the principal without it is absolutely necessary.

Considering my present circumstances, it seems not to be immodest to mention that when my claim against grandfather's estate was settled, as a special favor to you after considerable effort, I got the community to deduct about $90 from the original claim. At that time I expected to remain in the county [community] permanently, and as you needed the money, I was willing to square the account for $900; but now I shall need all the money I can obtain, and if you sympathize with my purpose, and have the ability and disposition to send me one or two hundred dollars, more or less, whenever it may be convenient, it will be highly appreciated, and I am sure God will in due time reward you for it, but I will want you to be perfectly free to follow your own heart. If it is not expedient for you to send it, don't do it. In regard to my enterprise God is my employer, and I know that he will sustain me. He has furnished what money I have, and I shall use it as economically as possible, and when it is gone I shall trust him for more.

Write soon. Please excuse the length of this letter. Your Brother & Son,

CHARLES J. GUITEAU.

To S. W. Guiteau, Esq., Freeport, Ill.

P. S. Please always put the number of my residence on your letters to me, & then I shall be sure to receive them.

The other is one written by the assassin from the office of Mr. Scoville, in Chicago, to his father at Freeport, Ill, and reads as follows:

GEORGE SCOVILLE, LAW OFFICE, No. 70, LA SALLE STREET, CHICAGO, Nov. 11, 1867.—DEAR FATHER: Since writing you a week or two since, I have been thinking of returning to New York. My object in going there will be to connect myself with The New York Independent. Mr. Bowen, the publisher, and Mr. Tilton, the editor, are both members of Mr. Beecher's church, and I hope through the assistance of a Mr. Lill (an active member of the same church) and a personal friend of mine to obtain a situation on the paper. I shall try to enter the Editorial rooms, for there I can learn how to write, and shall be under a constant pressure to write. For a long time I have felt that I had a work to do in connection with the Religious Press, and have been waiting for something to turn up. I have recently decided that the only way for anything to turn up is to turn it up myself, and by God's grace I propose to do it. "Where there is a will there is a way." I believe that God helps those that help themselves, and God has a work for every Christian and the best way for him to find out his work is to follow his deepest aspiration.

In regard to my legal studies I may say that I never contemplated "settling down" as a Practicing lawyer. My object was simply to become acquainted with the fundamental principles of the science.

Before going to New York I ought to have at least a hundred dollars, and if in view of the facts set forth in my last letter you do not feel under any obligation to give me a hundred dollars but will loan it to me, I will return it as soon as I can. If I do not obtain the money from you I shall look elsewhere for it. Please write soon. With love to all. Your affectionate son,

CHARLES J. GUITEAU.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

CALIFORNIA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 18.—[illegible] yesterday. Leland Stanford has arrived from England, with the intention of establishing a line of steamers between Liverpool and the Gulf of Mexico, to connect with the Southern Pacific railroad. Mr. Crocker, president of the road, says the report so far as relates to Mr. Stanford's return from England, is not true. Stanford is lying sick in Paris. He says there will be a line of steamers connected with the road as stated that if some other party does not establish one, his company will. As to whether it was true the emigrant fare from Liverpool to San Francisco would be placed as low as $30, Crocker said, with a significant smile, we are going to bring emigrants from Europe and rates will be at figures that will bring them.

Signal Service Matters.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—Lieut. [illegible], now making a tour of inspection of the Pacific coast signal offices, says it is the wish of Chief Signal Officer Hazen to have established in San Francisco a main signal office prepared to forecast weather. Lt. Kilbourne says the marked meteorological variations of this coast and repeated failures in transmission of reports to and from Washington render it an urgent necessity for San Francisco to make her own predictions and not depend upon the bureau at Washington. This necessity he adds, is felt not only by the western but also the eastern folks, for during the rainy season meteorological conditions and variations are watched with great interest in those sections of country.

Probably Lost.

Wednesday morning W. C. Partlow, keeper of the Farallone lighthouse, with four fishermen and a boy, left port in a plunger for his station. Nothing has been heard of them since. As the weather is stormy and as wreckage identified as belonging to the plunger was picked up yesterday inside the heads it is supposed all are lost.

Killed by Mistake.

WOODLAND, Nov. 18.—At one o'clock this morning a gambler known as Bodie Smith shot and it is thought mortally wounded M. F. Patterson in a house of ill-fame. Smith secured a horse and made his escape. Officers are in pursuit. The men had no quarrel, and it is said Smith intended to shoot the girl instead of Patterson.

ARIZONA.

The Apache Trials.

TUCSON, Nov. 18.—A Citizen special from Fort Grant says Car, one of the Indians engaged in murders near Turkey creek, came into the subagency yesterday. The military here are anxious to have civil authorities demand the Indians, who cannot be tried by them.

Trouble Brewing in Sonora.

A special to the Star from Altar, Sonora, says the prefect of Altar, Jose Maria Salazar, and vice prefect Evaristo Araza, were summoned by Gov. Ortiz and have been put under arrest at Hermosillo, and that last week a squad of soldiers arrived at Altar from the governor on a secret mission. Their first act was an assault upon a prominent lawyer, Leopoldo Valencia, two of whom, without any provocation struck him with their pistols and took from his pockets all of his papers. The assailants are now in jail. It is believed the papers taken from Valencia are of importance in suits now pending. The governor is acting with Borquez and Garcia. As matters now stand there is a good show for another Sonora revolution in which some American mining companies will take a lively interest.

Tucson Topics.

It is rumored that a party of roughs are being secretly organized here for the purpose of making an effort to release Dock Halladay and Earp from the Tombstone jail.

GOOSE CREEK VALLEY.

Settlers are pouring into Goose creek valley, southern Idaho. Goose creek is a tributary of Snake river, and enters that stream from the south. It is crossed by the old emigrant road. A correspondent of an Idaho paper writes:

There is quite an influx of settlers from Utah making settlement in Goose creek valley. This is a fine valley, capable of sustaining a population of 20,000. This vast valley can be irrigated by a canal taken out of Snake river, which will no doubt be done at no distant date. Frank Roberts, county surveyor of this county, informs me that a canal can be taken out of Snake river, twelve miles below the mouth of Raft river and taken along the base of the foothills to a point on the river and road near where this road comes into the valley, which would open to settlers over 100,000 acres of fine agricultural lands. The placer mining interests along Snake river, in this county, are receiving quite an impetus. Locations are being made rapidly, and several large companies are already formed, and new processes for saving the gold being introduced.

Marion and Linn.

SALEM, Nov. 18, 1881.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Allow me to call your attention to a statement in this morning's OREGONIAN in your editorial entitled "County Assessments." You say that "it (Marion county), by the census returns, is shown to yield more wheat and other products than Linn." This is true, but it should not be forgotten that the census returns are for the year 1879, when there was almost a failure in Linn on account of rust, Marion not being as badly affected as Linn. Linn's wheat crop this year is evidently largely in excess of Marion's. Your other criticisms are evidently just.

GRANGER.

Recovery of Treasure.

[Toronto Mail.]

To the systematic treasure-seeker a hopeful prospect is opened out by an electrical achievement reported to us from the United States. It would appear that during the summer of 1843 the schooner Vermillion laden with copper bars, foundered in Lake Erie, during a heavy gale of wind. Her cargo was valued at $60,000 and its owners spared no pains or expense to recover it but in vain. The Vermillion had gone down in the deepest part of the lake and after several fruitless attempts to discover her whereabouts, the search for her was abandoned as hopeless. Thirty-eight years had elapsed since her loss, when an Erie boat, with an electrical apparatus for the detection of metal substances, was cruising about the lake one fine morning. Suddenly the person in charge of the machine observed unmistakable indications denoting the presence of metal beneath the surface of the water over which the boat was at that time passing. The bearings of the spot were at once taken, and on the 3d of last month a couple of divers were conveyed thither and lowered into the lake. They alighted on the deck of the submerged schooner and succeeded in penetrating into the hold whence they extracted and brought to the surface one of the long missing copper bars. The entire cargo has since been recovered. After this successful feat who can doubt that it is reserved for electricity to solve all the old standing mysteries of sunken Spanish and Dutch galleons, British treasure ships and piratical hoards that have defied mere human ingenuity and perseverance for so many years past?

WRINKLED FACES.

It is a painful sight to see young ladies in their teens with wrinkled and premature old faces; nevertheless, it is quite common, and to any one who observes the tendency of the times the reason is very apparent. Owing to flaming advertisements and bogus certificates, in which are used the names of eminent physicians and chemists, the unsuspecting and credulous have been induced to use some of the so-called liquid beautifiers, all of which are known to be positively injurious and if used for any length of time will destroy the complexion, so that it will be next to impossible to restore it. Mothers should be very careful to see that their daughters do not use these preparations but ask for and obtain Slaven's Harmless Yosemite Face Powder, the only harmless beautifier. For sale by Woodard, Clark & Co., Portland, Oregon.

THE SCHOOL FUND AND ITS PLUNDERERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

THE OREGONIAN has at different times denounced the frauds committed in loaning the school fund of the state. A short time ago you pointed out where in the fund had lost from $2000 to $1600 in the sale of two sites in the city of Portland. The facts show that the property was sold to one of Governor Thayer's intimate friends, and by this person a few days later a portion of it was deeded to the governor's law partner, though another person stood ready to buy at a higher figure and had made application therefor. The success of the transaction seems to have inspired the governor and his friends with courage to risk another "draw" on the school fund, as may be observed by referring to the record of deeds in the clerk's office of Multnomah county, book 29, page 22. On September 10th, 1881, W. W. Thayer and wife deeded to Claude Thayer, their son, 3 acres of land in Sec. 25, T. & N. R. 1 E.; consideration one dollar. On September 20th, 1881, just four days after the transfer, Claude, the son, borrowed $250 from the school fund on the same land. This land is three miles from the city. On page 77 of the assessor's book it will be found that W. W. Thayer gave to the assessor a description of the same land, and it was valued by the county assessor at $100, and this was done under the solemn obligation of an oath. But the checkiest part of the transaction is to be found in the selection of the appraiser. Mr. F. Paxton, a young man who never owned or sold a foot of land in his life, was Mr. Claude Thayer's convenient choice. Mr. Paxton is a law student in Governor Thayer's office and a warm personal friend of his son. He was also at one time the governor's private secretary. It is not uncharitable therefore to infer that Governor Thayer and his son had no serious difficulty in having the land appraised at $750, Mr. Paxton's valuation. The difference between $100 and $750 was the former being the valuation of the county assessor under oath and the latter Mr. Paxton's valuation when Claude Thayer desired to borrow money of the land from the school fund, is a striking illustration of the value of the work of a convenient friend. Twenty-five hundred dollars was wanted by the family, and the law requiring the board of school commissioners, of which the governor is chairman, to loan the money loaned, it was necessary to fix the value of the land at $750, and it was done. I can think of no more fitting language in which to characterize this transaction than to quote from the report of the investigating committee of 1879 page: "There could have been but two purposes in all this transaction; one was to avoid the odium of loaning money to himself upon insufficient security, and the other to avoid personal responsibility for any balance in case the mortgaged property failed to pay the debt. The character of this scheme cannot be too severely censured, since, to the sin of obtaining money dishonestly is that of violating for selfish purpose a bath bound trust—that of guarding a fund sacred in the eyes of every friend of a country and his child." The government of the United States donated the fund to the children of Oregon, and he who would rob them of one cent of it is not worthy to be governor of this young state.

A few days ago it was announced through THE OREGONIAN that Governor Thayer would explain his letter regarding the Irish land league. Would not be well for his excellency, while in the humor of explaining, to give the people a little light on the matters above referred to? The subjects certainly of more general interest to the people of Oregon than any question affecting the rights of European nations.

In conclusion I will say that it is remarkable that while affecting much zeal in prosecuting state officials for uses charged against them, Governor Thayer should unquestionably subject himself to similar charges and like investigations.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 19, 1881.

GIGANTIC RAILROAD COMBINATIONS.

Later advices from the east reaffirm the statement telegraphed a fortnight ago that an entirely new system of railroads, reaching from ocean to ocean, will be completed and in operation within two years. The basis of this new system is the Northern Pacific. The western division will be formed by the Oregon railway lines; the middle link will be supplied by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and connection with New York will be effected through a new double-tracked line already under contract for construction from New York to Buffalo, whence connection will be made with the west by a road known as the New York, Chicago and St. Louis, now in operation. It is asserted that the line from New York to Chicago and St. Louis will be in operation by July next, and that rolling stock to the amount of $5,000,000 has been ordered for it, to be delivered next year. The system is to be worked from the Atlantic to the Pacific as one continuous road.

This is a great combination. Nothing equal to it in magnitude has ever before been effected. But there are now reports of a union between Vanderbilt and Gould, which, if authentic, points to a still more extensive combination. Chicago papers are setting forth the details of this colossal scheme, to which they are inclined to give full credit. They say it is becoming more evident every day that Gould and Vanderbilt are working in harmony. Both are buying heavy blocks of Erie stock, and the present managers of Erie are said to be greatly alarmed. Both are in the directory of the Chicago & Northwestern; the Gould syndicate owns $30,000,000 of New York Central stock, and Vanderbilt is said to be heavy owner in the Union Pacific and other Gould roads. Another proof that Vanderbilt and Gould are working in harmony is that the much talked of through line of the Wabash, via Detroit and the Great Western, has never been properly established, and that the utmost harmony and good feeling exist now between the Wabash and Michigan Southern, and they are working into each others hands as much as possible. In short, all the indications go to show that the interests of the two magnates are constantly working into closer combination and for a common object.

These developments are presented as an outcome of the great railroad war which has been carried on with so much bitterness and vigor for several months past. The Vanderbilt system of railways is operated in the interest of New York city. These roads have been carrying on a vigorous war against the other trunk lines, namely, the Pennsylvania system and the Baltimore and Ohio, which represent respectively the cities of Philadelphia and Baltimore. Jay Gould is now to come in to reinforce the Vanderbilt system with his many lines of the west and southwest; the and movements indicate that to Gould Vanderbilt now looks for that co-operation and aid which will enable him to triumph over all his rivals, reduce them to mere local roads, and enable him to make New York city the permanent seat of the entire trade of the continent.

It might be supposed that the pre-eminence of New York was so great and so firmly established that other cities would not challenge it. Yet we find the press of other cities inveighing against these great railroad combinations as designed for the sole aggrandizement of New York. It is said to be the aim of those who are directing these great operations, to control the domestic and foreign trade of the continent so that it shall all be poured into the lap of New York city, enriching everything and everybody in that metropolis. We may note in this a coincidence well-fitted to create a little interest and amusement for readers here. It is found in the fact that the press of such cities as Philadelphia, Baltimore, Cincinnati and St. Louis is engaged in vigorous denunciation of railroad schemes which have for their object the concentration of everything at the city of New York. We are tolerably familiar with similar outbursts of indignation on this side of the continent. "Portland is to be built up and enriched at the expense of other places," has been hammered by incessant iteration on every ear; and the railroad management that tends to this result is denounced with extreme bitterness. It is amusing to observe the a like tune is played against New York by the press of such villages as Baltimore and Philadelphia.

For many years consolidation of railway lines has been going on, and it is destined to become yet more wide-reaching and complete. The truth is it gives the country a better and cheaper service than it could have otherwise. The contrary impression is common, but it is unfounded. The aim of modern railroad management is to increase traffic by affording every possible facility for transportation, and to reduce expenses by adopting every possible improvement in construction and every possible economy in operation. Thus, as traffic increases charges are steadily reduced; and Poor, in his great railroad manual, shows that there has been a steady reduction for years in cost of freight transportation over all the principal lines. The average earnings per ton per mile on the New York Central were 2.954 cents in 1854, and .879 in 1880; of the Pennsylvania road, 2.746 cents in 1865, and .38 in 1880; of the Lake Erie & Western, 1.948 cents in 1852, and .836 in 1880; and of eight of the great lines from Chicago to Buffalo, St. Paul, and western points, 2.227 cents in 1870, and 1.09 in 1880. This universal reduction of from one-half to nearly three-fourths, demonstrates that the railroads have found it good policy to double their business at the sacrifice of a small margin; and is in itself an answer to those who claim that the extensive combinations and consolidations of the past ten years have had no object but extortion, and no result but the fulfillment of their object.

THE ACTUAL DIFFERENCE.

If the Astorian were honest enough, in quoting from THE OREGONIAN'S telegraphic shipping reports of Nov. 1st to add that ships chartered at San Francisco for 60s and 62s 6d to take wheat to Cork, were chartered, as the dispatches explained, "prior to arrival," it would not add an exhibition of intentional dishonesty to that of palpable stupidity. Charters "prior to arrival"—the vessels to arrive from two to four months from the date given—are quotable, as everybody knows, at much lower figures than "spot" charters. The Astorian asserted that charters from the Columbia river were from 22 to 29 shillings higher than from San Francisco. To establish this it quoted an excessive rate—92 shillings—from the Columbia river, and the low rate from San Francisco for vessels "prior to arrival." Perhaps it had not intelligence enough to see the fallacy of this statement. If it will admit this, we will cheerfully withdraw the remark about its "dishonesty," and charge the whole to its stupidity. Our telegraphic reports give daily the rates at San Francisco both for "spot" charters and for charters "prior to arrival." The difference has been from ten to fifteen shillings during the whole season. In "spot" charters San Francisco has an advantage of about twelve shillings over the Columbia river. This is just about the difference between the market values of wheat at San Francisco and Portland—that is, about 15 cents per cental, or $3 per ton. This is the exact state of the case. But the Astorian says it "won't have it." It's of no particular consequence whether it will have it or not. "Truth is truth, to the end of the reckoning," and the public, who don't look to such papers as the Astorian for information on any subject of importance, will have it. The difference between [illegible] and the values of wheat in the [illegible] enough without exaggerating it to double what it actually is.

A new suggestion is made anent the recent boom in confederate bonds. It is asserted that the confederate government had money and property secreted in different countries of Europe at the close of the war to the value of perhaps $20,000,000. No less than ten large steamers belonging to the confederacy were in European ports at the close of the war. These vessels were not turned over to the United States, but were privately sold. What became of the proceeds of these sales? There is an impression in well informed quarters that the confederate government yet exists for the purpose of gathering up those scattered treasures with a view to paying off the confederate bonds, or rather paying a per centage upon them. The visits of Jeff Davis to London and Paris are assumed to have something to do with the manipulation of these confederate funds, and the fact that Judah P. Benjamin has resided in London since 1865 is regarded as significant. The men who have control of these funds—supposing them to exist—dare not make a divide among themselves, for the fact would leak out sooner or later, and the government of the United States might give them a deal of trouble, but if the money is disbursed on pretense of paying the bonds, the transaction will carry the appearance of legitimacy—though the manipulators can readily manage to grab half the pile or more. If $10 or $15 per $1000 can be paid on the bonds, there is a big speculation in buying them up at $1 or $2 per $1000. This is ingenious; but it would hardly be advisable for any one to depend on it and go to buying up confederate bonds.

It has never been pretended by anybody that it was a prudent and safe thing to sail vessels out over the Columbia river bar without the aid of a tug. The Edith Lorne was lost because prudence was disregarded. For years past there has not been a single loss at the mouth of the river which common prudence would not have averted. But shipmasters take chances at the mouth of the Columbia river which they would not take even at San Francisco or New York. Then when accident is the result of blunder or temerity, they call the Columbia bar excessively dangerous. No vessel that takes a tug will be lost on the Columbia bar. But it is not surprising that a vessel attempting to sail out in weather so heavy that tugs turned back with vessels in tow, meets disaster.

A recent report from Mr. John Farrell, the United States consul at Bristol, furnishes some interesting information concerning the trade of that city in American products. Our cheese controls the market, but our butter encounters sharp competition from France. Our oleomargarine, or butterine, which we trust is all exported to Europe, is in increased demand; indeed the consul thinks that nine-tenths of the "raw material" of the Holland butter reaching the English market is oleomargarine shipped from the United States to Holland. He believes that this article will soon be as popular and merchantable as condensed milk is at the present time. American flour the consul finds so popular that many of the English millers buy it to resell as of their own production.

The Chicago Tribune states that the tax-payers of North Chicago will have to pay $5.38 per $100 of the assessed value of their property as taxes this year, the tax-payers of West Chicago $5.01 per $100, and those of South Chicago $4.96 per $100. This is the tax for city purposes. The county and state tax is to be added. Here is an average taxation of above 5 per cent. for city purposes alone. What would the owner of property in Portland say to taxation at this rate?

In the criminal court at Washington an agonizing labor is in progress to ascertain whether Guiteau is really the man who murdered President Garfield. Nobody saw the fatal shot fired. Guiteau freely admits that he did it, but the court and jury, enveloped in the fog of absurd legal proceedings, are evidently in great doubt about it.

In the boot and shoe making business in San Francisco there are fifty-six establishments large and small, which employ 2500 hands, whites and Chinese.

THE DUNIWAY-LOSEY WEDDING.

The marriage of Mr. Hubert R. Duniway and Miss Ida Losey was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Duniway in this city on the evening of the 13th inst. The ceremonies were witnessed by the immediate relatives of the contracting parties to the number of about thirty persons. The bride was handsomely dressed in blue cashmere trimmed with cream-colored satin and Spanish lace, and with flowers at her throat and in her hair, and with filmy laces upon her bosom and dainty gloves and slippers, looked as charming as unassuming. The groom was clad as is customary upon such occasions. The attendants were Mr. Willis Duniway and Miss Annie Fearnside, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. A. Cruzan, being the last of his official acts in Portland. After the cordial congratulations of friends, a magnificent supper was served and toward midnight the guests retired to their homes and the newly married pair were driven to their own abode, which had previously been made ready for their reception, and began life on their own account.

THE EDWARDS-REED WEDDING.

Thursday noon, Lieut. Frank A. Edwards of the 1st cavalry was married at Walla Walla to Miss Mary Reed, daughter of Hon. Alexander Reed, receiver of the U. S. land office, Rev. L. H. Wells of the Episcopal church officiating. Among the guests were: Mrs. Gen. Drover, Capt. and Mrs. Thos. McGregor, Capt. and Mrs. James Jackson, Capt. C. Baudire, Capt. Max Wesendorff, Surgeon F. L. Town, Lieut. and Mrs. Wainwright, Lieuts. Upham, Scott, Mills and Goode of the 1st cavalry; Major and Mrs. W. H. Eckels, Major J. A. Kress and Capt. J. Q. Adams of Vancouver; Mrs. Judge Wingard, Mrs. B. L. Sharpstein, Mrs. J. B. Keefer, Miss Keefer, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Patterson, Mrs. J. L. Sharpstein, Miss White, Miss Chandler, Mrs. Asa Legrow, Mrs. W. H. Kimball, Mrs. R. P. Reynolds, Mr. A. P. Sharpstein and others.

The reception from one to three was attended by the ladies and gentlemen of the post and by representative families of Walla Walla. The 1st cavalry band tendered a delightful serenade. Lieut. and Mrs. Edwards took the evening train for Portland and are registered at the Esmond.

SURPRISE PARTY.

A surprise party was given on Thursday evening to Miss Sadie Oppenheimer of San Francisco at the residence of her uncle, Mr. J. Loewenberg, corner West Park and Washington streets. It was a splendid affair; well managed, and quite a pleasant surprise to the young lady. The hours were spent in dancing and feasting, and daylight began to dawn when the merry guests departed. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. P. Wasserman, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. B. Goldsmith, Mr. and Mrs. F. Frank, Mrs. A. Meier, Miss Josephine Wolfe, the Misses Lyon, Miss Bertha Levy, Miss Gustina Selling of Oregon City, Miss Jennie Meyer, Miss Bella Bettman, Miss Rosa Brenner, Miss Minnie Meyer, the Misses Durkheimer, the Misses Jacobs of Corvallis, Miss Carrie Harris, of Corvallis, Miss Silverman, Miss Rosenstein, Miss Ida Metzger, Miss Etta Harris, Miss Eliza Simon, Miss Celia Friendly, Messrs. Sam Simon, I. N. Fleischner, S. H. Greenberg, J. Liebman, A. Oberdorffer, Ed. Ackerman, Julius Goldsmith, August Goldsmith, S. Feuchtwanger, M. A. Mayer, P. Lowengart, A. Feldenheimer, R. Metzger, Sol. Oppenheimer, Berthold Goldsmith, A. Bernheim, S. Frank, S. Harris, A. Harris, B. Neustadter, I. Frohman, E. O. Regensburger, J. H. Brenner, F. M. Cohn, S. Selling, A. Bachman and J. Stalkerstadt.

THE GOLDSMITH-FLEISCHNER WEDDING.

Last Sunday evening, Miss Emma Fleischner, daughter of Mr. J. Fleischner, and niece of Col. L. Fleischner, was married to Mr. Rudolph Goldsmith. The wedding was a very brilliant affair and the ceremony imposing. The marriage took place at half-past six at the elegant residence of the bride's parents, and was performed by the Rev. Dr. Rosenspitz. Only the immediate relatives of both families were present. The large handsome parlors never looked so well. The frescoed walls and ceilings were ample decorations themselves but between the two parlors hung the marriage bell, a marvel of beauty, festooned by long wreaths of evergreens, interspersed with white camellias. The bride looked handsome in her elegant robe of ivory silk, with a magnificent court train, trimmed with Spanish lace, and ornamented with beaded pearls. Beautiful were the wreath and veil, the looping of the latter being a mass of orange blossoms. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the spacious dining room, where a sumptuous repast was awaiting them. Here two hours were spent in feasting and toasting. At eight o'clock the reception began, which lasted until two the next morning. The rooms were constantly thronged by friends congratulating the happy couple and a good many indulged in dancing to the delicious music of Varney & Bray's orchestra. Probably at no wedding ever celebrated in Portland were such a variety and such costly presents given as at this. The floral tributes, too, were numerous and beautiful—one, a large fountain, was Pfunder's chef d'œuvre. Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith left the same evening by the "State" for San Francisco where they will remain several weeks.

WEDDING RECEPTION.

The return of Hon. C. B. Moores and wife from their trip on the Sound was the occasion of a reception tendered them on Friday evening of last week, at the residence of Mrs. J. H. Moores of Salem. The guests commenced arriving about 8:30 o'clock, P. M., and for over two hours, Mrs. Moores, as the hostess, and the bride and groom were kept busy receiving their friends, the spacious parlors being filled to overflowing. The affair was noticeable throughout for its complete sociability, the freedom of it tending to friendship, giving ample excuse for the laying aside of extreme ceremony or formality, each and all intent as it were on enjoying themselves and adding if possible to the enjoyment of those around them. Handsome toilets were the rule rather than the exception, some of the dresses worn by the ladies being elegant. The presents were by the ladies being a general thing useful, cuts were numerous, and as a general thing useful, as well as ornamental. The elegant clock presented by the "mountain party" was especially admired, while many rare gifts presented by relatives and friends were none the less neat and appropriate, including silver cake basket, knives, forks, spoons, napkin rings, pickle dishes, etc. About 11 o'clock the company was invited out to supper, which, prepared under the immediate supervision of Mrs. J. H. Moores was, of course, all that one could desire, her reputation as a housewife being second to none, and equaled by but few. Music, both vocal and instrumental, followed, and the time running on until ere the affair closed the town clock being on the stroke of 1 o'clock A. M. before all the guests were permitted to depart. It was a most pleasant affair throughout, and all present, as well as hosts of others, wish "Charlie" and "Sallie" health, wealth and happiness for years to come. Among the guests were:

Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Denison, Mr. and Mrs. Werner Breyman, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Moores, Mrs. S. A. Clarke, Mrs. S. A. Holland, Mrs. J. W. Jerdey, Mrs. W. B. Crone, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. ### Good Samaritan Hospital and the Thanksgiving Offering.

To the Clergy and Congregations of the Oregon Mission: DEAR BRETHREN—I desire to call your attention to the appointed offering for the Good Samaritan Hospital, which I trust will receive attention in every parish and mission, however small or feeble. The needs of the hospital were never more urgent, nor the ability of the people to respond more adequate to those needs. The hospital is now caring for nearly thirty patients, one-third of whom pay little or nothing for what they receive. Two thousand dollars have been expended within the past year for improvements, furniture and enlargements, and more is still required for the same purpose. The affairs of the hospital are managed with ability, care and economy, and it is every way worthy of far larger interest and support than it receives from those who by their christian calling and profession have special obligations to minister to the sick and needy. The duty here presented has two aspects: one as it calls for aid urgently needed, to carry on this most christian work, and the other as it is an expression of thankfulness to God for the gifts and blessings of the past year. This is a "Thanksgiving Offering," an offering laid upon the altar of God, in response to the divine command—"Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase." Never perhaps in the history of our country—surely never in the history of this state—has there been a year in which God's bounties have been more manifest and abundant. What the president says in his proclamation concerning the whole country is signally true of this our own portion of it—"Peace without and prosperity within have been vouchsafed to us, no pestilence has visited our shores, and the abundant privileges of freedom which our fathers left us are still our increasing heritage." This country is exulting in the possession of these gifts, and many are saying in their hearts, "To-morrow shall be as this day, and much more abundant." God has indeed opened the windows of heaven and poured out his blessings upon us, till there is literally not room enough to receive them. While then we give thanks to Him in word, for the "fruits of the earth, and all other blessings of His merciful Providence," let a large and generous offering bear witness to the truth and sincerity of our service. Let us not dismiss this duty—as is so common—with a thoughtless and trifling dole lest it be said of us, as of them of old —"This people draweth nigh unto me with their mouth, and honoreth me with their lips; but the heart is far from me." Yours in the service of Christ,

B. WISTAR MORRIS.

The clergy are particularly requested to read this notice to their congregations at the morning service the Sunday before Thanksgiving Day.

Gen. Joseph H. Eaton is the treasurer of the hospital. Contributions "in kind," which it is hoped may be many, can be sent to Weeks & Morgan, Front street below Madison.

Open Again.

The California Market, on Morrison street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, will be opened on Saturday, the 19th, under the management of W. H. Bowie, whose qualifications as a butcher is first-class, and has always been successful in that business heretofore, having established two markets in this city within the last four years where there never was any business done before. He is now the right man in the right place for that business, and the public will do well to patronize that market, and they will find the best meats that are to be had in Portland markets, and be squarely dealt with. Call and see for yourself.

Go to Keith's for your oysters.

A. J. Kane's new river dredger can be seen at the Clarendon Hotel.

Oxford Oyster Saloon, 27 Oak street.

Dora, why don't you go to Uncle Myers' and buy one of those diamond rings for $15? TILLIE.

The "Household" took the first premium for Best Family Sewing Machine at the Mechanics' Fair. John B. Garrison, 167 Third street, Portland, General Agent.

Minville's late cutter and fitter, Mrs. M. J. Meagher, who cut, designed and draped those elegant suits for the fair, has resumed business for herself at 36 Third street, corner of Stark.

MEMORIAL EXERCISES.

MISS DUBOIS' FAREWELL.

A Full House and a Pleasant Performance.

Miss Belle DuBois, who starts by the steamer out going on Thursday next for Milan to continue her musical studies, bade goodby to the Portland public last night. The theatre was well filled. Miss DuBois sang in the first part the waltz song "L'Abbandono" by Arditi, and upon a recall gave "Embarrassment." In the second part she sang "Come per me Sereno" from "La Sonnambula," again responding to a recall with "Sadly Sang the Summer Birds." Although her voice was evidently affected by the damp and chill of the theatre, which throughout the evening was wretchedly cold, Miss DuBois well sustained her high reputation. Her rendering of the selection from "La Sonnambula" was especially artistic, and the pleasing ballad "Embarrassment," was given with delightful grace and expression.

It is always a pleasure to hear Mrs. Goodsell. Her clear, strong contralto voice was splendidly adapted to "Storm and Sunshine," and in its rendition, unaffected singing, she quite earned the compliment of a recall, which the audience heartily gave her.

Mrs. Cyrus Dolph brought tears to the eyes of many with "The Fall of the Pemberton Mill," and then straightway made them forget that there was sadness in the world with a Dutch dialect essay on "Mine Lip Pismarck." Later she read "Old Time Religion," and when the audience insisted that a mere bow did not repay its applause, responded with a convulsive—conclusive is the exact word—sketch on that much offending and much abused brute, the mule.

Mrs. Lily Defries, who, from one or two former public efforts is known as a pianist of marked talent, won golden opinions. The audience was charmed with her rendition of selections from "Martha," charmed almost to the point of forgetting that it was cold. Mrs. Defries was well fitted in her very striking accomplishment.

Miss Maude Cardinell, of San Francisco with Mrs. Defries played a duet from "Fra Diavolo," and sang with Mrs. DuBois, Mrs. Dolph and Mrs. Goodsell the closing quartette. Her efforts were very pleasing, and it is to be regretted that she did not attempt some first vocal performance.

C. J. Loth Stockeraken recited a scene from "Hamlet" with the spirit and dignity which have made him a favorite.

Mr. Parker Stevens played the accompaniments, and of course did his part well.

ANSWERS TO NUMEROUS QUESTIONS.

Manufacturing the greater portion of our stock and buying from manufacturers direct we are enabled to undersell any establishment in the United States.

We reset DIAMONDS in any style.

We manufacture any article in the jewelry or silverware line to order.

ENGRAVING on gold, silver and ivory tastefully executed.

Any WATCH MOVEMENT now manufactured with any style of GOLD, SILVER, COMPOSITION, NICKEL OR CELLULOID case we can supply.

In silver and silver-plated ware, spoons, forks, etc., our stock is large and well selected.

Diamonds, pearls and other precious stones we have set in all suitable articles in the line, and have unquestionably the largest stock in Portland.

We have facilities for GOLD AND SILVER PLATING. To the latter we call the attention of HOTEL KEEPERS. Spoons and forks and fancy pieces can so replated to be as good as new, and to cost considerably less than the new. Send quantities that require plating and we will send rates.

In CLOCKS we have a full assortment.

SPECTACLES, EYEGLASSES, and all articles connected with the optical line, our stock is complete. We have the only OPTIMETER for measurement on the coast, and are enabled to test the strength or weakness of EACH EYE SEPARATELY, thereby enabling persons to obtain proper glasses who have heretofore found it difficult to be fitted.

In addition to above articles we have a complete and well selected stock of ROLLED GOLD JEWELRY. All dealers and merchants handling goods in our line will find it to their advantage to call on us when coming to the city, or send their orders, as we are enabled to supply them at the same rates, often lower than they can buy of jobbers and middlemen in the east and San Francisco. GOODS SENT ON SELECTION to parties known to us (charges to be paid by purchaser both ways) with privilege to return within a reasonable length of time. Goods sent per W. F. & Co., C. O. D., with the privilege to examine at express office, to any one, when charges both ways are deposited in W. F. & Co's office.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC.

There is no necessity whatever of going to a Notary Public (to execute a Deed, Mortgage, or other documents) who must necessarily procure the certificate of the county clerk, in conformity with the laws of different states and territories, and a vast amount of difficulty may be avoided simply by calling on Perry & White, No. 22 Stark street, Commissioner of Deeds for all of the States and Territories, who take acknowledgements of and administer oaths to every possible form of legal instrument in existence, including German Powers of Attorney.

A World of Good.
One of the most popular medicines now before the American public is hop bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other bitters, as it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone-set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try hop bitters.—Nunda News.

THE "EDITH LORNE."

Abandoned at 5:30 Thursday Evening—Floated by the Night High Tide, Drifting on to Clatsop Spit.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ASTORIA, Nov. 18.—From Capt. Johnson of the tug Brenham, I learn that the Edith Lorne grounded about 11 A. M. yesterday. About three hours after she set her flag half-mast, Union down. The tug then towed Capt. Harris, with life-boat, as near as possible, which took off half of the crew, and at 5:30 succeeded in getting the remainder, the ship being then abandoned. The high night tide floated her off, and on the flood she must have drifted through the cut off and across the south channel on to Clatsop spit near the wreck of the Ferngleu, where she still lies upright, but bulwarks broken amidships. At low water late this P. M. from here we could see men aboard lowering the sail. Capt. Watt and crew have not arrived here yet. They will probably come on the Canby late this evening. The loss of the ship is generally considered to be solely due to over-confidence on the part of Pilot Wood. Three other vessels in port sailed in by opposition pilots, and now ready for sea have applied for tug service.

A SMALLPOX REMEDY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

For the benefit of those who are unfortunately suffering from smallpox, I beg to append a remedy which would appear to be as valuable as it is assured y simple. The subjoined is a copy of a clipping which was published in an English paper some years ago and which I thought, at the time, worthy of preservation. J. O. C.

"Edward Hinds, of the Liverpool Mercury, is willing to risk his reputation as a public man if the worst case of smallpox cannot be cured in three days simply by the use of cream of tartar dissolved in one pint of hot water, drank at intervals when cold. It is a certain never failing remedy. It has cured thousands, never leaves a mark, never causes blindness, and avoids tedious lingering."

The Small Pox.

[Pacific Medical and Surgical Journal.]

There is a strongly marked tendency toward an epidemic extension of small pox on this coast. In San Francisco sporadic cases are of frequent occurrence, whilst in various places throughout the state and neighboring regions cases spring up from time to time. Numbers of these are traceable to importation by rail from Chicago and the east, while the origin of others is obscure. For a year or two past there has existed extensively over the United States and Canada an epidemic diathesis tending to fertilize the germ of this dangerous pest. But for vaccination, the mortality from variola in our country would at this moment be recorded by tens and hundreds of thousands, instead of the scattered units which have tracked its path.

I have a Howard silver stem-winder, adjusted for heat, cold and position; cost $125; I will sell it for $60. Uncle Myers 181 First street.

Another medal is added to the many won by that enterprising photographer Abell. It is a silver one and is given for the best general display at the fair. Abell's photos will win anywhere.

The Waltham watches are too well known to need any praise. I have a three-ounce case, 18 karat gold, stem-winder; cost $140; I will sell it for $80. At Uncle Myers, the pawnbroker of Oregon, 181 First street.

CLOTHED IN WHITE.

Her face all radiant as the skies of morning—
With fairy step she trod,
A creature lovely as the flowers of May,
Who could bewitch us with her childish praiting,
Or rule us with a nod.

A maiden whom to love appeared a duty;
A spell around her hung;
A sense of all that nature makes most fair,
That filled with rapture all who watched her beauty,
Or heard her silver tongue.

Clothed in white—she hears the wedding chime,
Blushing beneath her crown of orange flowers,
As her soft answer flows
Like music, with no presentiment of the time
Whene'er her life, which dawns so fondly dowers,
The shadowy grave will close.

Clothed in white—her form we seem to see
Shine in the glory of a new existence,
Defying time and night,
And from all earth-born trammels set free,
While we, like travelers toiling in the distance,
Yearn for the coming light.

—Joseph Cory.

POPULAR SCIENCE MONTHLY.

The November number of this publication is opened by Mr. Spencer with an article on "The Industrial Type of Society," the eleventh of the series on "The Development of Political Institutions." It is the culminating point of the discussion, and sets forth in a strong light the great fact that social improvement, to be most rapid, permanent, and complete, requires the largest possible freedom of the individual—a condition only to be reached by the development of the industrial at the expense of the coercive pursuits of society. "Deterioration of American Oyster-Beds," by Lieutenant Francis Winslow, of the United States navy, follows next, and is full of useful information bearing directly upon one of the most important problems affecting American food-suppy. "Volcanoes, their Action and Distribution," is a profusely illustrated paper correcting many popular errors concerning volcanic phenomena, and describing the curious changes of form and behavior that have taken place since they begun to be studied in several of the most noted volcanoes. Dr. Oswald's papers on "Physical Education" are continued, the special topic in the present number being "Higienic precautions." Those who have read the earlier articles of this series will need no urging to follow it out, and those who have not may save themselves doctors' bill and misery by getting the back numbers and studying up the subject from the beginning. "A Half-Century of Science" is the first part of Sir John Lubbock's presidential address at the last meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, and deals with the progress of the biological sciences since the first meeting of the Association fifty years ago. The second part, devoted to a similar survey of the physical sciences, will appear in the December number. People interested in the constitution of "other worlds than ours" should not fail to read Mr. Francis Birgham's article on the discovery of "Organic Remains in Meteoric Stones." It is an account of the researches of the eminent German geologist, Dr. Hahn, with the confirmatory testimony of Dr. Weinland, an equally eminent zoologist. Sir William Thomson's opening address before Section A of the British Association on "The Available Energy of Nature" is given; and is followed by a paper on "The Duration of Human Life," in which the writer, M. De Solaville, after referring to many of the noted cases of longevity of ancient and modern times, reaches the conclusion that centenarians are not uncommon, and that, on the whole, the length of human life is increasing. Anybody who may be ambitious in this direction will find it profitable to read the next article entitled "Worry," which disagreeable habit, according to Dr. J. Mortimer Granville, the author, is a far more common shortener of life than the so-called overwork we hear so much about. There is an article on "American Climate and Character," by E. C. Towne, and the body of the magazine closes with a sketch of George J. Brush, professor of mineralogy in the Sheffield Scientific School, and president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Lack of space prevents extended reference to the departments, which, however, are always filled with a large variety of instructive and useful reading.

Business is business: When a Chicago preacher wants a new church all his own and a big congregation, he has himself convicted of heresy.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

In Italy they license hand organs which are in tune. A discordant note is not permitted. Hand organs which can't get a license are shipped to this country.—Philadelphia News.

Equally America's glory: They asked him if he was the best man at the wedding. "No," he said, "I don't know as I was the best, but, be jabers, I was as good as any of 'em.—Boston Post.

It was a negro who acknowledged after a tempestuous voyage at sea that he was a land lubber. He said that he lubbed it so well that he never wanted to go to sea again, for sure.—Boston Transcript.

The Memphis Appeal says: "The hair we wear, the ivory teeth through which we smile, are bogus, and, of course, frauds upon the public." Very few editors would frankly confess so much.—New Orleans Picayune.

The following conundrum is particularly designed for those who are "up" to the popular phrases of the day: Why is a letter about to be mailed like an unreliable watch?—Because it can't go for a cent.—Cambridge Tribune.

A person overheard two countrymen, who were observing a naturalist in the field collecting insects, say one to another: "What's the fellow doing, John?" "Why, he's a naturalist!" "What's that?" "Why, one who catches gnats, to be sure!"

An advertisement in a New York paper reads "Wanted—a compositor; one who uses neither tobacco nor rum." So it seems that in some cities compositors actually use these vile things. It doesn't seem credible.—Norristown Herald.

The Philadelphia American Manufacturer asks: "If the French continue to exclude American pork why should we not exclude French silk?" And a reader replies: "Because you cannot make a silk purse from a sow's ear."—Norristown Herald.

Absurd mistake: We thought "The Peanut and Other Poems" was a queer title for a book, and was not surprised, therefore, to see in the next issue of the paper a correction. It should have been "The Pageant and Other Poems.—Norristown Herald."

An exchange says an Indianapolis judge has decided that "a druggist may sell cigars on Sunday but not a cigar dealer." And it is a wise decision, too. A druggist should not be permitted to sell a cigar dealer on Sunday or any other day.—Norristown Herald.

A question of madness: "That dog of yours flew at me this morning and bit me on the leg, and now I notify you that I intend to shoot it the first time I see it." "The dog is not mad." "Mad! I know he is not mad. What's he got to be mad about? It's me that's mad."—New Orleans Times.

Such is fame: A conversation overheard the other day: She. Did Sheridan or Knowles write "The School for Scandal?" He. Why, Knowles, of course. Sheridan was a general in the army, you know, and never wrote anything. Didn't you ever hear about his marching through Georgia? She. O, I remember now, but I always did get those two men confused."—Rochester Express.

Friendship: In the forenoon of life a man has an idea that it would take a mighty big church to hold his friends, if they should all be drawn to the same sanctuary at the same time. But ere the dentist has put in his second set of teeth he has about come to the conclusion that one of the short pews near the stove would not be crowded if they should all sit down together to warm their feet.—Winston, N. C. Leader.

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The outer walls of the insane asylum building at Salem have been finished and the whole structure will be placed under roof as speedily as possible.

Ed. Barnes and John McGregor, boys of 15 and 16 years, respectively, were this week placed in the penitentiary to serve out a two years' sentence for larceny.

The large flax warehouse at Albany is receiving the flax crop daily as it dries, after leaving the rotting ponds. The estimated crop of lint flax raised in that section this year will be 40,000 lbs. This will keep the flax mills going for six or eight months. It is said that the lint is of a very fine quality, and although the crop was much depreciated on account of foul seed and ground, in many instances the ground being so bad as to choke the flax out entirely, yet the crop as a rule will be a paying one all around.

Washington Territory.

The Port Madison mills are now running on two-thirds time.

An M. E. church building, 22x36 feet, 16 feet ceiling, is being built at Spokan Falls.

Messrs. Cannon & Warner lost by the breaking of their boom at Spokan Falls last week about $1500.

Wm. Moore, private, company A, second infantry, stationed at Fort Cœur d'Alene, is winner of the gold medal awarded by the war department to the best marksman in the division of the Pacific. The contest came off at Presidio. The shooting was done at 200 yards standing, 400 yards kneeling, 600 yards lying down. The medal will be forwarded to the winner from the war department, and will be his personal property.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Wheat—Active, firm and higher; advanced 2c. $1 29@1 29¼ cash; $1 29¼ December; $1 29¾ January.

A World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other bitters, as it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Nunda News.

THE WRECKED "BROUGHTON."

Findings by the Court of Inquiry Yesterday—The Disaster Caused by Mistaking Shoalwater bay for the Columbia river.

The naval court called for the purpose of investigating the cause of the loss of the British ship G. Broughton, concluded its labors at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The court was composed of James Laidlaw, British vice-consul, president, and Capt. William White, master of the British ship Crummock Water and Capt. A. Jarvis, master of the British ship Thunderbolt. The findings are as follows:

First. That the ship G. Broughton was lost by stranding near Leadbetter point, Shoalwater bay, through the breaking of a cable while anchored near the Fairway bay; the master, William Paynel, having admitted the error of mistaking the entrance of Shoalwater bay for that of the Columbia river, a mistake which, from evidence before the court, has often been made before, even by experienced navigators well acquainted with the coast.

Second. That the vessel was drifted out of her position by the current which usually sets to the north in winter, and by a strong southerly gale, the weather being too hazy and rainy for the master to get proper observations to verify his position.

Third. That all care was taken by the master and navigator of the vessel, the lead having been freely and constantly used, and a proper look out kept at all times, the ship also being kept well off the shore during the night.

The court considers that it would fail in its duty were it not to caution shipmasters of the strong resemblance between the entrance to Shoalwater bay and that of the Columbia river, the distance across the bay and across the mouth of the river being about the same, the south points of both being low, sandy points, there being a high hill back of Shoalwater bay which corresponds to Chinook point and a mountain visible from the sea to the south of Shoalwater bay which corresponds with Saddle mountain south of Astoria. At a distance of from 15 to 20 miles the difference between Toke point or Cape Shoalwater and Cape Hancock is not readily perceptible. The court is advised that these points of resemblance are more apt to mislead in heavy weather, as in clear weather a shipmaster can readily verify his position by observation.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN,
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast in the Treatment of
ALL CHRONIC & DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of Disease of the generative organs or private disease. He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHŒA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two-thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their happiness blighted, until their organizations broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored. Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail. Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Office—132 and 134 Third St., opposite Masonic Hall. Office Hours—From 10 to 12 A.M., 2 to 5 and 7 to 8 P.M. All letters of professional business must be addressed DR. PAUL M. BRENAN & CO., Portland, Oregon.

U. S. MARSHAL'S CITATION.—UNITED States of America, district of Oregon, ss: Whereas, A libel of information hath been filed in the district court of the United States of America for the district of Oregon, on the 9th day of November, 1881, by Mr. James F. Watson?, United States attorney, against 14 cases of distilled spirits and 2 cases of wine, which, by Mr. J. C. Horr, a special agent of the Treasury Department of the United States, on the 15th day of October, 1881, at Harrisburg, in the territory of Alaska, were seized as forfeited to the United States for the reasons and causes in said libel mentioned, and praying the usual process and monition of the said court in that behalf to be made, and that all persons interested in the said property may be cited to answer the premises, and all due proceedings being had, that the said property above mentioned may, for the causes in said libel mentioned, be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, according to the form of the statute in such case made and provided. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of the said court, to me directed and delivered, I do hereby give notice unto all persons claiming the said property or knowing or having anything to say why the same should not be condemned as forfeited to the use of the United States, pursuant to prayer of said libel of information, that they be and appear before the said district court, at the city of Portland, in said district, on the 5th day of December, 1881, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, if the same shall be a day of jurisdiction, otherwise at the next day of jurisdiction thereafter, then and there to interpose a claim for the same and to make their allegations in that behalf. Dated at Portland, in said district, this 12th day of November, 1881. EDWARD S. KEARNEY,
